ANNEX 2 – REIMBURSEMENTS

Reimbursement of Duty travel

Advisers must arrange all outward and homeward journeys by themselves through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs' travel agency, Carlson Wagonlit Travel, e-mail: UM.dk@contactcwt.com. All air tickets must be purchased making use of any special offers and discount schemes - both in Denmark, country of permanent residence and in the country of service. In the country of service, the Embassy may require the Adviser to use established discounts arranged with airlines or travel agencies.

The Embassy may decide local variance from the standard rules below, and shall in such case inform the Adviser accordingly

1. Reimbursement can only take place provided that:

- 1) the travel has been authorised beforehand by the Embassy or MUS
- 2) expenses have not been covered by the local authorities

A request for authorisation must state the purpose of the duty travel, its duration and estimated cost.

For duty travel of less than 24 hours' duration, only documented expenses for meals will be refunded.

Per Diem allowances are not payable when free accommodation or meals are provided, including participation in Adviser Meetings, "in-country" courses and seminars.

2. Hotel: The Ministry of Foreign Affairs will refund documented expenses for hotel accommodation during travel during the contract according to current travel rules. Hotels must not be luxury or high class.

3. Main meals on per diem allowance: The Embassy in the country of service will pay per diem allowance on the basis of actual rates (see Annex 2.1).

Per Diem allowance is calculated for each commenced hour of the duration of duty travel, i.e. from departure from home/workplace to return to home/workplace, as $\frac{1}{24}$ of the reduced rate stated for the country of service. Meals provided free by the airline must be deducted from the per diem rate as follows: 15% (breakfast), 30% (lunch) and 30% (dinner).

If only some of the meals are provided without cost to the adviser, the per diem allowance will be reduced as follows: 15% (breakfast), 30% (lunch) and 30% (dinner).

4. Transport: Documented expenses for transport by public transportation to and from the destination, typically airport/hotel, will be refunded and is not part of the per diem amount.

5. Presentation of accounts: Observing the rules for reimbursement set out in items 3 and 4, Advisers must on completion of the duty travel submit full and itemised travel accounts, together with numbered vouchers stating their total outlay, to the Embassy or the Ministry. Forms for this purpose can be obtained from the Embassy or the Ministry. In situations where it has not been possible to obtain a receipt, the Embassy/the Ministry, on the basis of an individual assessment, be able to accept a solemn declaration from the adviser instead of a voucher. As a minimum, such declarations must contain information regarding the nature and size of the outlay and where and when it took place.
6. Duty to report: Public employers are required to report payment of tax-exempt travel expenses, both in Denmark and abroad, including per diem allowance.

The rates can be found at <https://cirkulaere.medst.dk/media/1244/054-21.pdf>

ANNEX 3 - EDUCATION COSTS

Reimbursement of School fees

School attendance in the country of service

- Max. reimbursement of actual cost per child for school fees, including board and lodging at boarding school Subject to Embassy decision

School attendance outside the country of service

- Max. reimbursement of costs for child placed at boarding school provided both parents are resident in the country of service DKK 119,700 per year

ANNEX 4 - PRE-DEPARTURE PREPARATION

The process

During the recruiting process, all involved, including the Adviser, are expected to identify needs for competence development in relation to taking up the position as Adviser. In most cases, no pre-departure preparation is needed.

The Adviser shall follow the code of conducts as attached namely on anti-corruption and on working in public sector.

ANNEX 6 - PERFORMANCE DIALOGUE WITH HOST ORGANISATION

1. Introduction

The performance dialogue aims at strengthening the performance of the Adviser. This requires optimal contextual conditions for the adviser's work. Furthermore, it requires continuous feedback on the Adviser's performance as a basis for sustaining and developing advisory skills.

The performance dialogue is intended as a tool to enable the involved parties to identify and develop the necessary elements leading to positive and effective cooperation and good advisory performance. The tool is developed for situations where dialogue will lead to solutions on practical problems, develop processes and enhance performance. It is not suited for actual conflict resolution.

2. The use of the performance dialogue tool

This performance dialogue tool is intended for use between the following actors:

- the individual Adviser,
- a representative from the partner institution and
- a representative from the local Danish representation.

The involved parties should fill out the performance dialogue tool as preparation for a meeting, which should not have other issues on the agenda. Alternatively, the involved parties may each fill out their part of the tool at the dialogue meeting. The respective assessments are discussed and joint comments are formulated. Comments may specify either agreements or disagreements. A joint report sheet should be filled out and signed by all participants at the end of the dialogue meeting to ensure that all participants agree to the observations and conclusions. The joint report should be sent to the Danish representation.

If there is more than one partner institution, the Representation and the institution responsible for programme implementation will decide how the dialogue is best organised. A representative from the local Danish representation should always participate in the dialogue meeting acting on behalf of the contract holder (the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs).

At the performance dialogue meeting the involved parties will evaluate the relevance of the individual job description and work plan of the Adviser, the specific institutional set-up and give the adviser focused feedback on his/her job related performance. This input should lead to a joint description of strengths and challenges; an agreement on specific actions to undertake as well as a follow-up status on previously agreed specific actions.

The dialogue should take place three times during a standard 3-year contract period: After the first year of the contract, after two years, and finally before the end of the contract period. If the contract is extended beyond 3 years, the performance dialogue is continuously undertaken every 12 months. Representations are to submit the completed tool to The Ministry of Foreign Affairs following each performance dialogue.

The dialogue tool contains 15 statements. The involved parties should indicate to what extent they agree with the statements on a 6-step scale (from 1: “Disagree” to 6: “Agree”). The parties should choose the number on the scale that most closely represents their view. The numbers 1-3 represents varying degrees of disagreement and numbers 4-6 varying degrees of agreement. All statements should be filled out and the full range of the scale for responses should be used in order to provide a nuanced understanding of respondent’s viewpoints.

The statements fall in two sections.

Section A concerns contextual conditions for the Adviser’s input. These statements will be used to evaluate the relevance of the Adviser’s job description and programme context and other conditions for the Adviser’s performance. Section B concerns the performance of the adviser. These statements will be used to give the Adviser focused feedback on his/her technical-professional performance (section B1) and cooperating performance (section B2).

The parties should add joint comments where appropriate in relation to all sections. The joint comments are divided into three parts. The first part covers identified strengths and challenges based on the replies to the statements. The second part covers specific actions for the next period agreed between the parties at the meeting. Part 3 covers the follow-up status on previously agreed specific actions.
