6.5 any chemical, biological, bio-chemical, or electromagnetic weapon

7.0 Calculation of indemnity

7.1 Indemnity

Insofar as it is possible, the indemnity is to place the insured in the same financial position as immediately before the damage occurred (see below).

Tryg Insurance may choose between the following ways of indemnifying the loss:

7.1.1 either to pay the cost of having the insured item repaired. If the insured item does not lose its air and character, the insured cannot make a claim for decrease in value or to procure or deliver an item identical or corresponding to the insured item or to provide indemnity by paying the loss in cash

7.1.2 For items purchased as new, which are less than 2 years old and were otherwise undamaged, the indemnity provided is the replacement cost for corresponding new items

7.1.3 For items which are more than 2 years old or bought used, the indemnity is fixed to the replacement cost for corresponding new items with a reasonable deduction for decrease in value as a result of age, use, reduced utility or other circumstances.

7.1.4 For electrical appliances such as:

- kitchen aids, radio equipment/TV, HIFI equipment, hard white goods, vacuum cleaners, PCs with accessories, mobile phones and the like, which were otherwise undamaged prior to damage, indemnity is provided according to this table:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age (years)</th>
<th>% of the replacement cost as new at the time of damage</th>
</tr>

7.2 Under-insurance

Where the value of the insured items exceeds the sum insured, it is a case of under-insurance, which will result in a reduction of the company’s liability to pay indemnity. Where the value of the insured items is e.g. twice as much as the sum insured, this results in an indemnity of only half the loss

7.3 Documentation

In order to get indemnity it is required that the damaged or stolen items are documented or rendered probable as having been part of the removal goods, and that age and replacement cost is as stated in the notification of damage.

This may be done by where you are still in possession hereof sending receipts/bills for the purchase, purchase contract or adequate description or photos with the notification of claim.
